

Une bannière faite en imitation textile avec des “Corps en Mouvement”

v13466

Cette longue bannière avec des “Corps en Mouvement” est faite en imitation textile de deux couleurs. Le noir est utilisé comme fond pour y coller des silhouettes de corps en mouvement, faits en respectant les mesures 1:1 en imitation textile blanc, peint en fonction de votre imagination.

Comment faire

1 Group-wise (social intelligence):
Children's social intelligence is enhanced when they work together on a creative project.

2 Image-wise (spatial intelligence):
Children's spatial intelligence is enhanced when they work together on a creative project.

3 Body-wise (physical-kinaesthetic intelligence): Childrens knowledge of their body is enhanced, when outlining each other's bodies lying in various positions.

1. Children are drawing the outline of each other, lying in different positions on white imitation fabric spread out on the floor with a protective plastic underlay underneath.

2. Cut out the outline roughly - a bit outside the line.

3. Paint the silhouette in colours and patterns according to your own imagination.

4. When the paint is dry, trim the silhouette neatly along the line.

5. Apply a coat of A-color Allround medium glue lacquer onto the back of the silhouette.

6. Help each other placing the silhouette onto the black imitation fabric banner where all the silhouettes together will represent 'Body Movement'.

7. Attach the eyelets onto the banner using the eyelet setter.

8. If the banner is meant to hang outside, cut a few holes here and there on the banner to reduce wind resistance.

9. Hang up the banner, eg: on a fence.
